URSA L bag is the most versatile and multifunctional in the series. It perfectly accommodates one DSLR body, two lenses and a number of other accessories. This bag excels in street photography and photojournalism. Side pocket fits a tablet or laptop up to 15". Inner reinforced compartment with interchangeable hook & loop sections allows you to optimally pack up a camera body, lenses and other equipment. There are also inner pockets suitable for indispensable accessories, including filters, memory cards and cables. Specially designed spacious compartment will store laptop computer and tablet alike. Upper quick access zipper guarantees flexibility and freedom of movement. When you need to quickly take your camera out or change the lens, you do not have to open the flap in order to capture precious moments. Thanks to modern hydrophobic fabric and water resistant zippers, URSA protects its contents against unfriendly weather conditions. For extreme weather conditions there are additional, dedicated raincoats. Flap clips are locked using neodymium magnets which allow for quick and comfortable access compared to older solutions. Even though URSA bags are dedicated for photo equipment, they are easily adaptable for everyday use. With their modern design, they may be used as fashionable city bags – just pull out the internal, reinforced compartment.
